Introduction

About Compton College

Compton College is committed to providing a welcoming and inclusive environment where diverse students are supported to pursue and attain student success. Since 1927, Compton College has continued to grow and change to meet the needs of the community.

Purpose of this Guide

This guide sets standards to assist individuals in producing printed materials, web content and other forms of messaging for Compton College. Our goal is to present a unified image through well-designed communication materials for print and digital platforms.

Please note, this guide applies to college-related communications; it does not apply to instructional/classroom materials.

This guide is a working document that will continue to evolve over time. Comments from faculty, staff, administration, students and alumni are welcome. We appreciate your support of this guide that is designed to promote creativity while developing a positive brand identity for Compton College.

Compton College Office of Community Relations

The Office of Community Relations uses the principles found in this guide to manage the college brand and help support the college's mission, strategic initiatives, and outreach efforts. By creating and cultivating a link between the college and the communities it serves, the Office of Community Relations also connects with students, employees, and visitors by designing and distributing targeted, informational, appealing, and easy-to-use publications.

Review and Approval

All external publications, videos and communications must be submitted to the Office of Community Relations for review/approval as a Word document, Publisher document, or PDF file. Internal communications do not require Office of Community Relations review unless specifically requested by the President/CEO or a vice president.

The following may be reviewed:

- Content
- Spelling
- Grammar
- Bulk mail regulations
- Policies of the college and district, including this guide
- Compliance with copyright law
- Correct use of logo
- Promotional items

Communications & Marketing

Print and digital publications produced by the Office of Community Relations support the college mission and work to strengthen college programs and brand. All communications and marketing materials represent the college and should be the best quality possible.

Style and Writing

Style Guide

Compton College publications generally follow rules set forth by the Associated Press (AP) Stylebook and Webster's Dictionary. The AP Stylebook is an English grammar style and usage guide used to help standardize mass communication and is the leading reference for most forms of public-facing communication. See appendix Item A

Campus Publicity

Event Flyers/Informational Flyers

All flyers must include certain key elements to ensure information is clear, concise, and complete:

- Event title
- Date and time of event
Refer to Appendix A for the formatting of dates and times.
- Location of event
- Text describing the event, including activities/sessions or a calendar of events
- Open to the public? ASB sticker required for entrance/discount? Campus parking fee?
- Prizes, fees, sponsors, or registration information, as appropriate
- Benefits of attending
- Photos/graphics for visual interest as appropriate; avoid dark backgrounds
- Contact information (phone, email, URL)
Refer to Appendix A for the formatting of phone numbers, email addresses and URLs.
- College logo
Refer to Appendix B for Compton College Logo Style Guide
- Official college URL
- Social media icons and/or links (for official College channels only)

An event flyer should include the following:

If you need an accommodation due to a disability to participate in any of these events, please contact Stephanie Schlatter, Director, Special Resource Center at sschlatter@compton.edu or 310-900-1600, ext. 2406 at least five business days in advance.

Please post flyer/event information on the corresponding department/program webpage.

Faculty members are provided with a flyer template per Guided Pathway Division for promoting specific classes.

All flyers are subject to review by the director of community relations.

Model Release

A Model Release Form must be completed by students photographed as individuals or those who are easily identified in a small group composition. Generic group or campus photos do not require a model release. In addition, a Group Model Release Form is available when individuals in a group setting (e.g., classroom) are photographed.

Please note, in accordance to Education Code Section 54626, information may be made available to newspaper, magazine, radio or television media and prospective employers for the purpose of reporting a student's participation in officially recognized college activities and sports events or the student's receipt of college degrees and awards.

Posting Flyers on Campus

Compton College provides designated areas for the posting of flyers and other promotional materials, available on a first-come, first-served basis. Currently enrolled students, organizations, and faculty or staff members of the college are eligible to post, circulate or distribute publicity in accordance with Compton College Administrative Regulation 3900 – Speech: Time, Place and Manner. A primary objective of these regulations is to ensure a certain amount of order and cleanliness on campus. Commercial advertising or promotional literature must not be posted, exhibited, or distributed anywhere on campus.

Publicity Authorization: Authorization for distributing literature or posting flyers on the 25 campus billboards may be obtained from the Student Development Office. All posters, banners and flyers must be identified with the name of the person or organization responsible. Any material not so identified may not be posted or distributed. Please bring 40 flyers to the Student Development Office to be stamped for approval and posting. In addition, a statement of responsibility and one copy of materials to be distributed must be filed in the Student Development Office prior to distribution.

Materials should be no larger than 8.5" x 11" except by special permission. Approved materials may be posted for up to 30 days and will be removed by the Student Development Office staff after the event. Nothing shall be posted to obscure previously posted materials. No materials may be posted on buildings, sculptures, posts, railings, trees, traffic control signs, utility poles, or vehicles.

Posting within the buildings is the responsibility of the respective division dean or administrator, and all posted material must conform to their requirements.

Violations of publicity regulations will result in removal of improperly posted signs, loss of posting or distribution privileges and possible disciplinary or legal actions.

Further Information: More information about Compton College campus publicity regulations may be obtained from the Student Development Office located R-61, or by emailing studentdevelopment@compton.edu.

Online Calendar of Events

Compton College has an online calendar of events where campuswide events may be posted. The calendar may be viewed by internal and external audiences, so be sure to include as much information as possible, and keep calendar listings current. For more information about using the online calendar of events, please contact the director, community relations. The online calendar should be used in addition to keeping webpages current.

Campuswide Email Guidelines

Campuswide email communication is generally reserved for safety and compliance information, urgent notifications, and presidential messages. Please see the Email Communications section (page 8) in this guide for more information about using email to promote college events/activities.

Additional email notes: Compton College email systems are intended for college-related business conducted both on and off campus. The college's email system may not be used to send unsolicited email such as rooms for rent, pet adoption, cars for sale, etc. Ads or commercial messages, including "spam," are also not appropriate. In addition, email may not be used for emails that might be considered offensive in any way. Emails intended for internal list-servs should only be sent with a supervisor's approval.

Email Signature: In our efforts to enhance professional communications both internally and externally, please use an automatic signature for each email following the example below.

Please cut and paste the template below to create a signature block:

John Smith

Director of Operations

Compton College | Operations Department

e: jsmith@compton.edu p: 310-900-1600, ext. 0001 w: www.compton.edu

Out-of-Office Email Reply

When you will be out of the office for an extended period of time, please create an email out-of-office response.

Example:

This is _____ from the _____ department. I will be out of the office until _____ and will respond to your email when I return. If you need immediate assistance, please contact _____ at (phone) or (email). Thank you.

Marketing Tools

Publications/Graphic Design

The director, community relations is available to help facilitate the design process of each publication/project. Please schedule an appointment to discuss what is needed and the timeline for project completion.

If the project is new, please bring samples of current Compton College publications that demonstrate the request (e.g., brochures, flyers, handbooks or online information). If nothing exists on which to base the publication, bring samples of what you consider appropriate (subject to approval) to help the graphics staff design the new promotional piece.

Please have a copy of the existing publication for reference when requesting changes. In addition to your changes, there may be other information that the Office of Community Relations needs to update as well.

Timeline for Completion of a Publications/Graphics Request: Depending on the complexity of the project and whether it is a revision or a brand-new publication that requires copy editing, photography and design, the time needed for completion may vary.

- The writing and editing of copy takes one to two weeks.
- Photography requests need to be set up at least two weeks in advance (see “Photography” section in this manual).
- The design process, including layout, revisions and the construction of the final project, may take two to four weeks (depending on complexity).
- The printing of the final publication, whether done on campus or with an off-site vendor, may take seven to 10 business days.

Official College Social Media Accounts

The Office of Community Relations maintains the official Compton College presence on various social media platforms. The college’s award-winning social marketing program provides a two-way form of communication to reach prospective students and offers a channel for communication with current students, alumni, community members, faculty, staff, families and others. Compton College’s social media pages are promoted on all printed material, from class schedules and college catalogs to advertising and outreach materials. To request an item from your program or department to be posted on the college social media sites, send an email to hparnock@compton.edu. Please allow up to five business days for posting.

Social Media for a Specific Department/Program: Participation in the official Compton College social media accounts is strongly encouraged. With more than 11,300 combined followers, the college’s social media outlets receive a high level of daily interaction, reaching a large percentage of students. Individual social media programs simply do not reach these numbers.

Individual social media accounts for departments or programs are not recommended for several reasons, including maintenance and reach. Social media accounts must be constantly updated and current. In addition, an individual presence will not reach the same large community as the official Compton College social media accounts. It also dilutes the consistency of messaging from the official Compton College account. Requests for any kind of individual social media presence for a department or program must first be presented to the director, community relations. Please be advised that any unofficial social media accounts may not be linked from the college’s official webpages.

Videos

Various departments occasionally have the need to produce videos to showcase programs. These are subject to the same standards as any other publication produced to promote the college. All video productions must start with a conversation with the Office of Community Relations. Please submit all scripts before production in Word format to the director, community relations. Allow two weeks for the editing/approval process. While each video may require a distinct image, the college logo must be displayed at least at the beginning and end.

Videos hosted on the college website and/or official YouTube Channel must be closed captioned, including promotional materials or marketing tools, specifically any materials that are public-facing.

Website

The Compton College website is published by the Office of Community Relations, which is responsible for the design, performance and technical capacity of the website, as well as and the review and final publication of updates. The Information Technology Services Department oversees the internal Portal, MyCompton and everything related to it. The Office of Community Relations manages the public website at www.compton.edu and is charged with ensuring that the integrity of Compton College's image and brand identity are preserved throughout the website and holds responsibility for review relative to legal requirements such as 508 compliance, usability and copyright laws. All pages are subject to review and approval.

The goal for the website is to keep students and the public informed, to attract new students and to provide current and prospective students with the services needed to begin their college career or to maintain their current educational plan. The website is also a resource for the community, faculty, staff, administration, elected and business leaders, supporters, donors and alumni, and should demonstrate high-tech capabilities and academic excellence, while taking care to accommodate users with older equipment and persons with disabilities.

- Webpage Format

Official webpages are considered Compton College-sponsored communications. Therefore, it is important that official webpages appropriately represent the college's mission and commitment to excellence. The Office of Community Relations has developed and maintains standards and review procedures for official Compton College webpages.

All webpages must use one of the approved templates. The look of the overall website is a style designed to match Compton College's branding efforts.

- Department Responsibilities

The individual departments, whose programs and services are represented on the web, have the ultimate responsibility for the accuracy of information specific to that department. When working on existing pages, please keep in mind that your department director or division dean must approve all content prior to making any final changes.

- Faculty Webpages

Faculty members are encouraged to create and maintain a webpage to share course details, syllabi, and other information pertaining to student success. Content should be current and updated regularly. Training is available to assist with the webpage publishing process. Faculty webpages are the only webpages that can be published without outside review and/or approval.

Web-editing training is coordinated through the Office of Community Relations and Professional Development. Refer to the Professional Development schedule published each fall and spring semester.

Media Relations

Media Requests

All calls from members of the news media must be referred to the director of community relations. Compton College enjoys excellent working relationships with the Herald publications, the Bulletin, the Los Angeles Sentinel, and other media sources. News releases and public service announcements are sent to a variety of media throughout the district. Similarly, any communications to the media must be initiated by the director of community relations.

Media Relations: Verbal Communications

- Media interviews, participation on a cable television show or on a radio talk show must be reviewed and discussed with the director, community relations prior to the interview.
- If Compton College plans to organize a press conference, its primary content must be approved in advance by the director, community relations. Only the board of trustees, president/CEO, vice presidents, the director, community relations or appropriate designated individuals should participate in communicating official positions/statements of Compton College.
- Compton College and District Official Spokespersons
Compton College and the Compton Community College District's official spokespersons represent the college and district to the media, elected officials and organizations. The official spokespersons are the members of the Board of Trustees for the Compton Community College District (CCCD) and the president and vice presidents of Compton College and the director, community relations. In the case of the CCCD board, the board president or designee is the spokesperson for the board as a whole. Each board member may speak representing his/her individual opinions, but not on behalf of the entire board.

From time to time, the director of community relations may request information from departments regarding a story. Please respond in a timely manner as reporters work on a very tight deadline (often two to three hours) before the story is published/posted.

Media Relations: Written Communications

- News Releases
Designed for an off-campus audience, a news release shares newsworthy information about Compton College or District news and events with area media outlets. Created by the Office of Community Relations, news releases are part of the college's overall marketing strategy and often tie into national trends, facilitate student recruitment, or highlight student achievement. No commercial advertising, political or religious information can be used in the news release. Please review all news release ideas with the director of community relations; some information can be better shared through other channels, such as social media, internal newsletters, and the college website.
- Email Communications
Compton College has established email as one of the means of sending official information to faculty, classified staff, and students. The director of community relations shall review and/or write all materials needed for campus alerts or advisories, as approved in advance by the President/CEO or designee.

Official college email communications are intended to meet the needs of the entire campus community or a large subgroup, is critical and/or time-sensitive, and meets one or more of the following standards:

- o Alerts the campus community to situations about health and safety risks, as defined in the Compton College Emergency Operations Plan
- o Provides information essential to the operation or execution of business
- o Notifies the campus community about changes in governance, policy, and practice
- o Communicates important information from the president/CEO or designee, or other college administration.

Official college communications will be sent to @compton.edu email addresses only.

The Office of Community Relations will not send out campuswide emails on behalf of any employee/department unless at the request of the president/CEO. Deans and directors should work with the appropriate vice president to send campuswide emails.

Student communications, including emails, should be based on the Tartar Completion by Design framework, and be designed for a specific target audience. Student communications are coordinated and managed by Student Services and the Office of Community Relations.

- Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Statement

The Compton Community College District (CCCD) is committed to the principles of equal employment opportunity and has a comprehensive program in place to put those principles into practice. The commitment of the Board of Trustees and the CEO to equal employment opportunity is emphasized through the broad dissemination of its Equal Employment Opportunity Policy Statement. The Human Resources Department provides all new employees with a copy of the Board of Trustees' Equal Employment Opportunity Policy Statement, which is printed in the college catalogs and class schedules, as well as employment announcement and recruitment material

“The Compton Community College District is committed to providing an educational and employment environment in which no person is subjected to discrimination on the basis of actual or perceived race, color, ancestry, national origin, religion, creed, age (over 40), disability (mental or physical), sex, gender (including pregnancy and childbirth), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, medical condition, genetic information, marital status, military and veteran status, or retaliation; or on any other basis as required by state and federal law.”

Branding Guide

Branding Standards

Our brand identifies Compton College and distinguishes us from all others. Our brand represents our mission as a welcoming and inclusive community, as well as our vision to be the leading institution of student learning and success in higher education. We are united as an academic community to ensure our brand promotes a consistent and positive image for Compton College that aligns with the approved identity standards.

Required Elements

Please ensure that the following required elements are included on all Compton College publications:

- Compton College Name

The name Compton College must appear on every Compton College publication or document.

- Official Logo

The official Compton College logo must appear on every Compton College publication or document.

In addition, the Compton College logo and name must be used:

- On all print material associated with the college
- With any and all written communications
- On all banners, flyers and signage

Only the official college logo may be used. Other logos may also be displayed, but they must be secondary (smaller, in a lower placement) to the official Compton College logo. Read more about the official college logo in the Identity Package section (page 13) in this guide.

- Compton College Web Address

For simplification of identity purposes, the Compton College web address is www.compton.edu or compton.edu. This web address must be used on all publications and promotional material for the college.

Use of Copyrighted Material

Compton College publications must follow the guidelines consistent with U.S. Copyright Act of 1976 for the use of copyrighted materials. References: U. S. Code Title 17, Copyright Act of 1976 (Section 10&); Education Code Sections 32360, 67302

- Photos or material from newspapers or magazines must have the name of the publication and the date it was published written on the original to be copied/printed.
- The Copy Center will not reproduce multiple copies of cartoons without authorization from owner. However, one copy or transparency can be made for classroom use.
- The Library of Congress offers free/public domain materials.
- Material taken from a book (even an instructor's manual) must have the name of the publisher and the date it was copyrighted noted on the original to be copied/printed.
- The internet IS NOT a public domain. Copyright rules apply.

Identity Package

College Name

Only officials of Compton College may use the Compton College name and/or logo. Individuals or groups not associated with or working with Compton College must have written permission from the director, community relations to use any part of the college name and/or logo. Unauthorized use, whether or not such intended use is related to commercial or nonprofit activities, is prohibited. The name 'Compton College' must appear on every Compton College publication or document distributed for informational or marketing purposes.

Logos

Compton College

The official Compton College logo must appear on every Compton College publication or document. Only the official college logo may be used.

Compton Community College District Logo

When district business is being conducted, the Compton Community College District logo should be used on all documents.

Compton College Tartars Logo

The Compton College Tartars logo may only be used by the Compton College Athletic Department.

Other Logos

Certain departments on campus might utilize another logo; likewise, student clubs might have a logo with a national, state or local affiliation used to promote activities serving students and the community. As indicated above, all must be approved by the director, community relations.

When using another logo, the Compton College logo must also be used. No logo should be larger than the Compton College logo when presented together on a publication.

College Seal

The official college seal is reserved for formal printed materials such as diplomas. The college seal and logo are not interchangeable.

Note: Doctrinarum studiosum fortunaque means 'Student Learning and Success'

Mascot

Compton College's mascot is the "Tartars." The use of the mascot should be limited to the athletic department only and no artistic renderings of the "Tartars" will be acceptable in any way. It is widely recognized that the mascot is a longtime tradition, and public art on campus honors the Tartars.

Awards and Certificates

Awards of Recognition/Appreciation/Participation

The college has a standard format to recognize students, faculty and staff for various achievements, providing consistency in language and appearance.

A line of text in the award can be personalized to state the department/program presenting the honor, and another line further describes the award, in regard to "Award of Recognition," "Award of Appreciation," etc. Examples are provided upon request.

This format MUST be used for all awards/recognition; no other computer-generated certificates or purchased certificates from another source are acceptable.

Certificates

The college has one official certificate designed to certify that students have completed a course of study. These certificates are only issued by the Compton College Admissions and Records Office.

Stationery

To create and maintain an effective visual identity program, please use the following guidelines in producing all college stationery.

Letterhead

There is one approved style for Compton College letterhead. Pre-printed copies may be obtained from the Business Office; a digital Word version is available on the Shared K:Drive: <K:\Management\Community Relations>.

The official Compton College letterhead contains the following elements:

- Logo: official college logo
- Address: 1111 E. Artesia Blvd., Compton, CA 90221
- Telephone: 1-310-900-1600
- Website: www.compton.edu

Note: Letterhead bearing the District logo is reserved for official correspondence of the Office of the President/CEO, vice presidents, and the Board of Trustees.

Business Cards

There is an approved style for business cards for Compton College, which must be ordered through the Copy Center. No variations of the business card formats may be used at any time. Do not produce business cards on a computer.

Envelopes

There is one approved style for envelopes, which may be obtained from the Business Office. No variations of the envelope format may be used at any time. You may not produce envelopes on a computer.

Campus Map

For consistency purposes, all publications including a map must use the official map and legend: <http://www.compton.edu/campusinformation/mapresources/Compton-College-Map.pdf>.

Campus Events

Throughout the year, there are numerous events, conferences and celebrations planned on campus, covering a variety of disciplines and programs. It is advisable to begin extensive advance planning for each event to ensure a successful outcome. Following these simple guidelines at the beginning of the planning process will help to create a successful event and avoid conflicting events.

Initial Steps to Successful Event Planning

The event planning process begins with submitting a Facilities Request Form to the Event Coordinator.

President/CEO Event Participation

The next step in the Compton College event planning process includes completing an Event Participation Request Form if you would like President Dr. Keith Curry to participate. The President/CEO welcomes opportunities to share Compton College's ever-growing number of success stories to audiences both on and off campus, as his schedule permits. In order to better coordinate speaking engagements, we ask that you submit requests at least four weeks in advance to allow for scheduling and planning.

To fill out the form, follow these simple steps:

- Open the online form and download/save the PDF to your computer
- Fill out the form using Acrobat
- Save the form
- Submit the form to the President/CEO's Office via the link at the bottom of the form

Whenever possible, please submit requests at least four weeks in advance to allow for scheduling and planning.

Next Steps

The Event Planning Checklist in this guide will outline all the next steps needed for a successful event. See Appendix Item C

Protocol for Introductions and Speeches

Compton College hosts numerous events throughout the year. The following is the order in which individuals are to be introduced:

- President of the Board of Trustees
- Vice President of Board of Trustees
- Board of Trustees Clerk
- Members of Board of Trustees
- Student Trustee
- Compton College President/CEO
- United States Senator
- United States Congressional Member
- California Governor
- California State Senator
- California State Assemblymember
- County Board of Supervisor
- City Mayor
- City Council Member
- Compton College Vice President
- K-12 School Board Member
- K-12 Superintendent/President
- Staff members representing Elected Officials
(use same order of office as above)
- Compton College Dean and Director
(if one is introduced - all present must be introduced)
- Special Guests

At the beginning of introductions, request that the audience hold applause until everyone has been introduced.

Use good judgment in determining whether or not to introduce college staff members and special guests, based on the size of the audience and the type of event.

How to Introduce and Address the Compton College President/CEO

Depending on the circumstances, Compton College President/CEO, Keith Curry should be introduced/addressed in the appropriate manner.

- On-campus informal introductions and meet-and-greet occasions
President Dr. Keith Curry
- Off-campus events and formal on-campus events
Compton College President Dr. Keith Curry
- In print and online
Keith Curry, Ed.D.

APPENDIX

Appendix Item A – Style Guide

Acronyms

- Use acronyms only on second reference, after the proper name has been stated. If an abbreviation or acronym would not be clear on second reference, do not use it. Example: For more information, contact Honors Transfer Program staff. An award-winning student success program, the HTP is committed to helping highly motivated students.

Dates

- Always use numerals for days, without ordinal references such as st, nd, rd or th
Examples: March 3, April 16 (not March 3rd, April 16th)
- In most cases, do not abbreviate months; always spell them out
Example: October is her favorite month.

However, in news releases, follow AP style and abbreviate months
Example: The event is on Sept. 21.

- Do not separate months and years with a comma
Example: He left for Rome in December 1987.
- Set off years with commas when there is a specific date
Example: The mortgage was paid off April 1, 1998.

Numerals

- Spell out a numeral at the beginning of a sentence.
Example: Forty-two people attended.
- Spell out whole numbers below 10
Examples: He has four dogs. She is one of six children.
- Spell out first through ninth.
Examples: I came in first. He wound up in fifth place.
- Use figures for 10 and above.
Examples: There are 11 houses on that street. He is the 43rd in line.
Exception: Always use figures for ages, regardless of the number. Example: The girl is 8 years old.

Telephone numbers

- Use hyphens to separate numbers
Example: 310-900-1600, ext. 1234

Time

- Use lowercase a.m. and p.m. (with periods)
- Use figures for time of day except for “noon” and “midnight”
Examples: 1 p.m., 10:30 a.m., 5 o'clock, 8 hours, 30 minutes, 20 seconds, a winning time of 2:17:3 (2 hours, 17 minutes, 3 seconds)
- Use times without “:00” when expressing a time at the top of the hour
Example: 1 p.m., 2 a.m.
- Use a hyphen to separate time frames such as 10 a.m.-1 p.m. and 3-5 p.m. (no spaces on either side of the hyphen). If the range crosses noon or midnight, specify a.m. and p.m. times.
- Avoid such redundancies as 10 a.m. this morning, 10 p.m. tonight or 10 p.m. Monday night. Use 10 a.m. or 10 p.m. Monday, etc.

Titles

- An exemption to AP Style, Compton College uses academic titles (e.g., Dr.) in publications. Abbreviate the courtesy titles Mr., Mrs., Ms. and the formal title Dr. when used with a name. In event programs, list academic degrees, without the courtesy title. If an academic title is listed in a publication, everyone on the list should also have an academic title.

Example:

- Keith Curry, Ed.D.
 - Sheri Berger, M.S.
 - Stephen Kibui, MBA
 - Elizabeth Martinez, M.A.
 - Rachelle Sasser, M.A.
- When specific job titles are used, they are capitalized when used directly before an individual’s name, lowercase in all other uses. In general, avoid unnecessary capitalization.

Example:

- We will begin the fall semester with Professional Development Day, featuring guest speakers and a welcome address from Dr. Keith Curry, president/CEO of Compton College.
- Another exemption to AP Style, Compton College sometimes uses Professor as a courtesy title, capitalized before the person's name. Coach is lowercase, with or without the specific name of the sport coached.

Spelling, Capitalization and Punctuation

The guidelines of the Associated Press (AP) Stylebook are followed primarily. The following are the correct spelling, capitalization and punctuation for some words commonly used in Compton College communications:

advisor

- An exemption to AP Style, Compton College uses "advisor" in all instances.

Alumnus, alumna, alumnae and alumni

- Use alumnus when referring to a male who has attended a school.
- Use alumna when referring to a female who has attended a school.
- Use alumnae when referring to a group of females who attended a school.
- Use alumni when referring to a group of males or a group of both males and females who attended a school.

ampersand (&)

Use the ampersand when it is part of a company, department or program's formal name or composition title, such as: Transfer & Career Center, Foster & Kinship Care Education, Outreach & School Relations.

The ampersand should not otherwise be used in place of and, except for some accepted abbreviations: A&R, R&B.

annual and inaugural

An event is annual after at least two consecutive years. Therefore, the term first annual should be avoided. First events can be described as inaugural. It can also be noted that sponsors plan to hold the event annually.
