Community Updates

Middle School Healthcare Careers Summit

Compton College, in collaboration with Compton Unified School District (CUSD), hosted 300 middle school students from Kelly, Bursch, and Emerson K-8 schools. This event marked a successful kickoff to CCHPP's hands-on healthcare career exploration activities for CUSD students.

Emergency medical response (EMR) pathways students from Dominguez and Compton High Schools led vital signs, Anatomage, physical assessment, airway rescue, and CPR and AED activities for middle school students.

With the support of CCHPP partners from Charles R. Drew University, Watts Healthcare Center, Kedren Community Health Cener, and St. John's Community Health.

Compton College Welcome Week

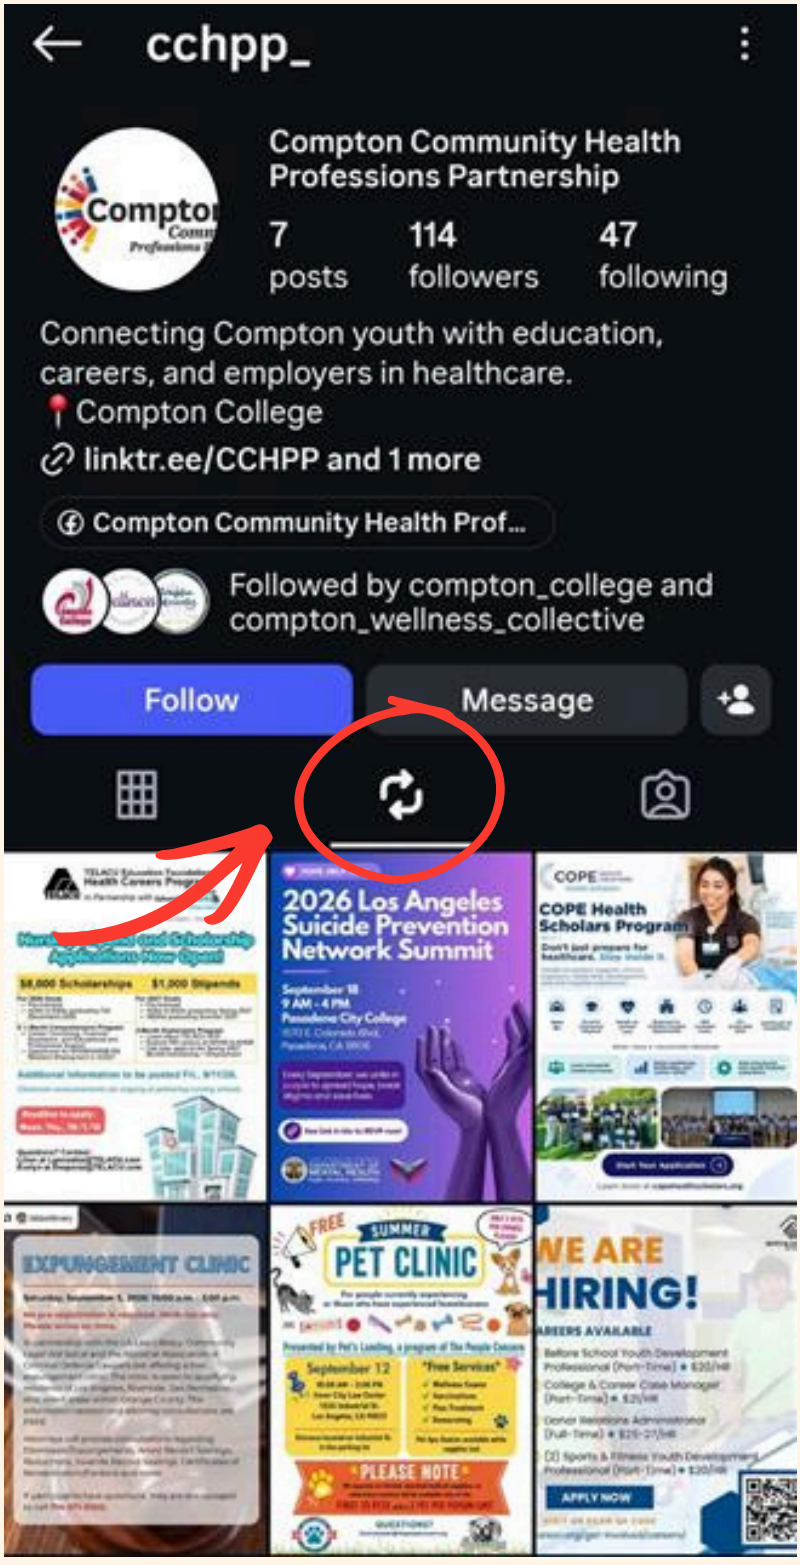

CCHPP attended Compton College's Welcome Week resource fair and connected with over 100 new students and handed out CCHPP Bluetooth speakers, pens, notebooks, and other goodies.

Davis Middle School Back-to-School Night

CCHPP attended Davis Middle School's Back-to-School Night to share resources and goodies with parents.

Community Resource Spotlight

Toro Health Pathways

The Toro Health Pathways Program (THP) is a Cal State, Dominguez Hills student support program that inspires and prepares students for rewarding careers in health professions by providing comprehensive training, mentorship, and educational support.

THP fosters strong partnerships between high schools, community colleges, and workforce preparation entities, while delivering culturally and linguistically responsive programming including paid summer internships and paid fellowship opportunities.

THP's mission is to empower underrepresented students by offering clear pathways to healthcare careers, facilitating their educational goals, and cultivating a culture of excellence, equity, and lifelong learning.
