Free Summer College Classes Available to Current High School Students at El Camino College Compton Center

High school students can get started on their college education at El Camino College Compton Center this summer.

Free summer classes are available to eligible juniors and seniors who want to earn college credits while still in high school. Students must be California residents to be eligible for a fee waiver.

Taking college classes while still in high school is a great way to get a head start on a college degree, while saving money on enrollment fees. Also, taking college courses can help prepare high school students for college curriculum and offer a sense of what to expect in higher education.

ECC Compton Center's eight-week summer session begins June 20 and the second six-week summer session begins July 12. A variety of classes are available in many subject areas.

To participate, high school students must apply online at www.compton.edu and submit a Concurrent Enrollment Application.
