Compton Community College District Adopts Trustee Area Boundaries Moderate changes in population prompt Board to retain existing trustee area boundaries

After extensive research and review, the Compton Community College District (CCCD) Board of Trustees voted to retain existing trustee area boundaries for the District. The Board's vote at its February 28, 2022, regular meeting followed a four-month-long redistricting process.

Reviewing trustee areas is part of a legally required redistricting process that occurs every 10 years. Education Code section 5019.5 requires that, following each decennial federal census, the governing board of a community college district must ensure that the population of each trustee area remains proportional.

Since early fall 2021, District staff and legal counsel worked with a demography firm to study population numbers and develop redistricting proposals. The Board held two public hearings and consulted with a Redistricting Committee comprised of community members, which reviewed map options and provided feedback. Updates were provided at the Board's regular monthly meetings.

Board members determined that the Compton Community College District's current trustee areas map is the best option based on California and Federal Voting Rights Acts criteria and 2020 census data. Population changes in the District since the 2010 census are not significant enough to require adjusting trustee areas boundaries in order to maintain proportionality. The current deviation (9.4%) is below the maximum allowable (10%).

The CCCD submitted the adopted trustee areas to the Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder's Office, and they will be in effect for the November 2022 governing board member election.
